Philadelphia – 215.575.4565

As Director of Professional Development and Training at Marshall Dennehey, Christopher is responsible for designing, implementing and overseeing the firm's legal and professional skills training program, including associate conferences, the annual mock trial and summer clerk programs, and CLE offerings for all firm attorneys.

Before joining Marshall Dennehey, Christopher served as Home Office counsel with Liberty Mutual Insurance Company for nearly two decades. While with Liberty Mutual, he used his previous legal experience to assess law firm performance and ensure effective and efficient representation.

Christopher also worked at two Philadelphia-based law firms and was responsible for the management and defense of mass tort lawsuits throughout Pennsylvania. He served as coordinating counsel for mass tort lawsuits in three additional states. His litigation experience includes defense of environmental, commercial and personal injury lawsuits through mediation, arbitration and trial.
