

Loring I. Fenton

Of Counsel

LIFenton@mdwccg.com

Long Island, NY – Melville – 631.227.6363

Loring brings a wealth of experience navigating the complexities of products liability, mass torts, toxic torts, and class actions in both state and federal courts nationwide.

Throughout his career, Loring consistently has demonstrated a mastery of the intricacies involved in defending complex, nationwide cases. His significant experience extends to counseling clients on a range of critical issues involving products liability, insurance coverage, indemnity, corporate disregard, and successor liability. He often provides strategic guidance within the context of sophisticated corporate transactions.

Loring has served as national coordinating and lead trial counsel for a wide array of industries and companies. His portfolio includes the representation of a Japanese pharmaceutical company and its U.S. subsidiary, as well as building material manufacturers, national retailers, and food companies. He has successfully defended these clients against a spectrum of challenges, from allegations of asbestos-related personal injuries to claims of foodborne illness outbreaks and other personal injury matters. Additionally, he regularly represents product manufacturers and distributors in navigating complex legal landscapes.

Loring's dedication to achieving favorable outcomes for his clients, coupled with his deep understanding of the law and commitment to excellence, make him an invaluable asset to our team and to the clients we serve.

Education

- Maurice A. Deane School of Law at Hofstra University (J.D., 1984)
- Long Island University (B.A., magna cum laude)

Admissions

- New York, 1985

Practices

- Asbestos & Mass Tort Litigation
- New York Construction & Labor Law
- Product Liability
- Catastrophic Claims Litigation