Anna focuses her practice on Medicare compliance and workers' compensation.

Anna works with clients to handle complex Medicare issues that can arise in both workers' compensation and liability cases. She handles Medicare set-aside cases from start to finish, providing a single point of contact and advice throughout the pendency of each case. Anna assists clients with Medicare set-aside allocations for workers' compensation and liability cases, conditional payment searches, submissions to Medicare for set aside approval, and preparing Medicare language for settlement documents. In addition, her attendance at mediations can help effectively settle cases.

In addition, Anna represents employers, insurers and third-party administrators, managing workers' compensation claims from initial investigation through litigation and resolution. Her experience spans all phases of the litigation process, including discovery, appearances before Workers' Compensation Judges, and coordination of medical and vocational evidence. Anna delivers practical, effective legal strategies aimed at minimizing exposure and achieving favorable outcomes.

In addition to representing employers in workers' compensation matters, Anna has experience in commercial litigation, premises liability, insurance coverage disputes and medical malpractice.

Anna received her B.A. from the University of Missouri, where she graduated from the Honors College. As an undergraduate, Anna was a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and a member of the Missouri Greek Life Panhellenic Executive Board. She was also a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, an honors leadership society, and a Kinder Scholar with the Kinder Institute for Constitutional Democracy. Anna went on to receive her juris doctor from Villanova University Charles Widger School of Law. During law school, Anna was a judicial intern for Judge George A. Pagano in Delaware County, Pennsylvania.

Representative Cases & Matters

- Achieved a favorable result in a claim involving a 66-year-old Medicare beneficiary who sustained a right shoulder injury and subsequently underwent arthroscopic shoulder surgery. With a $200,000 settlement, the MSA was approved for only $7,465. We successfully demonstrated that the claimant had reached a medically stable condition following surgery and required only conservative future medical care. We further established that there were no ongoing work-related prescription medications indicated for the shoulder injury. Based on the claimant's clinical status and projected treatment needs, CMS approved the MSA at $7,465, resulting in a significantly reduced future medical allocation relative to the overall settlement amount.
