Philadelphia – 215.575.2592

Margaux is an associate in the firm's Health Care Department, where she represents physicians, physician's assistants, hospitals, long-term care facilities, and other health care providers in malpractice, negligence, and general liability cases. She also devotes part of her practice to injury cases in the general casualty and premises liability fields.

Margaux earned her juris doctor from Drexel University in 2026. In law school, she was the Managing Editor for Drexel Law Review. She also served as the Vice President for the Intellectual Property Law Society and participated in the Entrepreneurial Law Clinic, assisting founders of early-stage start-ups navigate legal issues related to ownership, governance, and risk.

During her summers in law school, Margaux first worked as a legal intern at a pharmaceutical and biotechnology company. The following summer, she worked as a Summer Associate at a regional firm based in Pennsylvania.

Before law school, Margaux worked as a patent prosecution paralegal at a boutique pharmaceutical patent firm in New Jersey. She graduated cum laude from the University of Pittsburgh in 2022, where she majored in Political Science and Communication Rhetoric with a minor in Chinese. She was also on the University of Pittsburgh's mock trial team.

In her spare time, Margaux enjoys attending art classes, trying new restaurants, and hiking.
