Noah Blake is an associate in our Casualty Department where he represents defendants in third-party insurance defense matters concerning negligence, automobile liability, and premises liability. He also defends insurance carriers in matters involving personal injury protection (PIP) litigation, bodily injury, and general liability.

Prior to joining Marshall Dennehey, Noah served as the Assistant Public Defender in Hillsborough County. During his time in this office, he litigated over 2,000 cases that included several trials and motions to suppress and dismiss. Notably he received a 'not guilty' verdict at trial after the jury had only deliberated for eight minutes on a case where the client was facing up to 10 years prison.

Noah earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Law Enforcement and Justice Administration from Western Illinois University. He received his juris doctor from University of Florida Levin College of Law graduating magna cum laude. While in law school, he served as Volunteer Coordinator for the Ask a Lawyer Project which helped provide free legal consultation to the homeless community in Gainesville, Florida.

When he is not working, he enjoys spending time with his family. Noah is admitted to practice in Florida.
