Uyen is an associate in the Casualty Department, where she represents clients in a variety of matters involving automobile liability, general liability, premises liability, and related areas of civil litigation.

Prior to joining the firm, Uyen worked at a civil litigation defense firm in New Jersey, where represent employers, self-insured companies, and insurance carriers in workers' compensation defense matters.

Uyen was a recipient of a full-tuition merit-based scholarship to Penn State Dickinson Law, where she earned her juris doctor in May 2025. During law school, Uyen gained practical experience working as a legal intern for the Pennsylvania Office of Attorney General's Civil Law Division, where she assisted a team of attorney generals in defending lawsuits against the commonwealth and its agencies. Uyen was also a legal intern for the Department of Justice Executive Office for Immigration Review in Baltimore, Maryland, where she assisted immigration judges by drafting decisions and administering court proceedings. In addition, Uyen held numerous leadership positions in law school, for which she served as the President of the Dickinson Law Asian Pacific American Law Students Association and Honor Code Representative of the Student Bar Association.

Prior to her legal education, Uyen attended Davidson College with a full-ride scholarship and graduated cum laude in 2020. After graduating from college, Uyen worked at the Georgia Justice Project for two years, where she helped thousands of low-income Georgians who have criminal records expunge and seal their records at no cost.

Outside of work, Uyen enjoys mentoring law students and aspiring lawyers of marginalized backgrounds.

Uyen is admitted to practice law in Pennsylvania and New Jersey.
